HAPPY DAYS FOR THE BOYS.

IT IS pleasant to contemplate the rivalry of each community in the state to send its boys off with a distinctive greeting that will stand out in bold relief months hence when the raw young recruits don their soldierly airs and begin domineering it over the latest additions to the ranks of the national army. It does not take long to acquire the airs and deportment of a trained man of arms, for the intensive drilling of the present day is of such a character that the soft, slouching ways of citizenry are soon obliterated. Experience teaches us daily how to improve on the fare they see well to the boys en route to the training camp and each successive departure will awaken greater respect in the hearts of those who remain behind. The new army organization is based largely on the system of keeping together men from the same section so far as company organization will permit or the inclinations of the Liberty Lads warrant the alignment. This system makes for a certain esprit de corps and sensibly lightens the burden of the training officers, whose duties will grow rapidly as the army begins to reach its full proportions. There is not a case in the whole of Nevada where the boys were not sent away with a smile. Nye county did its share with loyalty, pride and alacrity and no fault can be found with the people who were instrumental in organizing this send-off to the troops to be. The whole town turned out and the boys were laden with good things to eat, innocuous beverages and soothing smokes. Goldfield, always prodigal of its princely generosity, which would give the last penny in its purse for any public object, developed spontaneous enthusiasm at the last minutes when the train was about to leave by passing the hat, which, by the way, was a liberal sized one, and filling it with double eagles and coins of smaller denominations until there was more than sufficient to buy the boys first-class standard Pullman berths all the way to Camp Lewis. This is all the more remarkable since the government provides the recruits with tourist sleepers from main line points and no one has yet found fault with that service. Tourist sleepers are good enough for Yankees travelling through the West or making their first trip across the continent, but Goldfield yearned for something distinctive for her representatives in the army and therefore saw they were provided with the best the railroad afforded.

Having done this there remained a goodly sum, which was turned over to the defenders of their country that they might not suffer from any enforced shortage of smokes. Lyon county loaded the contingent from that section with all the good things that can only be found in a farming country and let the boys go at that with three cheers and a tiger. The land of statesmen wherein Carson City is situated struck a novel stunt in presenting each of the recruits with a wrist watch. If there is anything appealing to the average transient in Carson City it is the passage of time. Consideration of this theme becomes an obsession for most of the citizens are engaged in counting the hours elapsing between elections and the time when they may expect another meeting of the assembly. However, regardless of this circumstance, it may be said that the gift of Carson City was actuated by the men who had their training on the desert, where personal initiative is encouraged. Reno, as the gateway for all the boys, carried off its difficult position as entertainer with a generous heart and liberal hand, for every train bearing recruits, whether they came from Utah or Nevada, was received with a warmth that was all the more inspiring as the gift of strangers. Washoe county has the shame of reporting more slackers than any other county in the state, but it is safe to say that the missing ones were the transients picked up from temporary residents of Reno and adjacent camps and were in no sense of the word citizens of the pretty metropolis that turned out en masse to cheer the defenders on their way to their duty.

SENSATIONAL DISCLOSURES.

AT THE inception of the war it was common for almost every American citizen to deride the men employed by the government under the generic term of the Secret Service. These young men have been held up to scorn as unfit to cope with any of the fine spun conspiracies of international warfare. Nevertheless, they have gone about their thankless tasks and responsible duties without any ostentation, recognition or public reward. They are the men who earn their salaries two or three times over these stirring days and there is not a moment when they do not hazard their lives in ferreting out information for their government. For years we have been taught by novelists and movie picture actors to believe the foreign emissary was the world's superior in state craft and that, when it came to gumshoeing he did not have a peer on this side of the broad Atlantic. In spite of this long distance prestige, the young men of our own secret service have demonstrated their ability to encompass the defeat of the most experienced sleuths of all Europe. Not alone have they taken care of the Germans and Austrians in their dealings with the United States, but they have manifested such wonderful versatility and such probing propensities that they have turned loose on an astonished world the most sensational group of documents that ever incriminated a man engaged in nefarious acts. There is no paltry petty thieving or desk entering about this business, which is of a magnitude that startled the whole world with its daring and cunning. When the truth was affirmed the first surprise was shared by a curiosity which sought to ascertain how the precious secrets leaked out and how they filtered through the hands of some circumspect agent of the state department. The source of this information has been well kept, but the full scope of the revelations, we are told, have not been given out for publication. We are told that the government is in possession of the names of persons dealing with the enemy and perverting their influence to abet those who are struggling to gain an ascendancy in the world's affairs. This will be the master stroke of sensational disclosures, but, before the names appear, we may look for a sudden hegira of certain influential pro-Germans from the vicinity of Washington. In contemplating this triumph of the government we should not withhold praise from the unknown men who have been the humble instruments of their government in procuring documents that may yet wield a decisive influence on settlement of the war. These brave men may never be known nor will they ever receive public recognition for their devotion to country, for the very nature of their duties preclude any public acknowledgment, for their lives would not be worth a moment's purchase. The keen intellects of our young men engaged in this underground warfare against the common enemy have proved their ability and by bringing home the bacon which counts for so much these strenuous days.

With steel cut in two and sometimes with prices lopped off 70 per cent, there will be a diminution in excess war profits when the tax collector comes around. Big business is doing its duty by the government this time.

Here's with best regard to the "Sauer Kraut Chasers" from Nye county who never forget a favor or fail to acknowledge a kindness.

LUXURIES WILL MAKE WAY FOR THE ESSENTIALS OF WAR

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Profound changes in the industrial fabric are forecast. Manufacturers or articles classed as luxuries will be the first to feel its operation and as the government's requirements grow non-essential industries using iron and steel may be eliminated entirely. The order was signed by Robert S. Lovett, as chairman of the committee, with the approval of the secretaries of war and the navy. All production in the country which consumes iron and steel will be divided into three classes. Class A will comprise war work, such as the production of arms, ammunition and ships; class B will comprise work which, while not primarily designed for the prosecution of the war still are of public interest and essential to the national welfare, and class C will comprise all orders not included in the other two and for this work no certificates will be issued.

BASEBALL GAMES

NATIONAL LEAGUE

(By Associated Press.) ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 25.—New York clinched the National League pennant by winning yesterday's game from St. Louis 2 to 1. Doak held the new champions to four hits, but these came when hits were needed and Doak lost. The locals hunched three singles off Sallee in the seventh, which, with an infield out, gave them their lone run.

(By Associated Press.) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 25.—Philadelphia continued its unbroken series of victories by winning from Pittsburgh, 2 to 0, but was eliminated entirely as a contender for the National League championship through the victory of New York over St. Louis. Bender was effective with men on bases and kept Pittsburgh's hits scattered.

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Charley Deal's triple in the eighth inning gave Chicago a 4 to 2 victory over Brooklyn. The locals bunched hits in the final rally and Deal's hit topped it off by sending two runners across the plate after the score had been tied. Vaughn was unsteady in the first two innings, but tightened up after that.

(By Associated Press.) CINCINNATI, Sept. 25.—Cincinnati and Boston played twelve innings to a 2 to 2 tie here, darkness calling a halt to the game, which was a fine pitching duel between the veteran Rudolph and Eller. Mitchell started the game for Cincinnati, but lasted less than an inning. Eller pitched masterful ball. Rudolph also pitched great ball, having but one bad inning, when the Reds touched him up for three hits and two runs.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

(By Associated Press.) BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Ruth of Boston shut out Chicago, 3 to 0, turning back the new American League

FROST BOUND TO COME SAYS THE WEATHER MAN

Although a light frost was predicted for last night, it failed to appear in the vicinity of the weather station, but early risers, including Mr. James R. Blair, auditor of the West End company, says when they arose this morning the roofs in sight were coated with frost. The weather bureau continues the warning to look out for a light frost tonight.
